

The objective is to obtain the equation that corresponds to the values of y_i as a function of the i (the index of each lens).

With the several measurements we will be able to have $y_i = m \times i + b$, where m and b are related with the Z and Y (or X) values